

THEY BEAT ALL BARGAINS.

TRUMPS AT THE MASON'S FAIR THAT TAKE THE TRICK EVERY TIME.

The Ladies Making More of a Success of It Every Day—Cartoons of Goods Coming in as Gifts and Going Out as Purchases—The Prices Low, Too—Some of the Nights—Interest in Voting Counts.

ANY things beautiful to see are met, beginning at the sidewalk as you ascend the steps leading to the meeting hall, Masonic Temple, these afternoons and evenings. The wives and daughters and sweethearts of the Masons of Brooklyn and this town forward that if they succeeded in crowding into the Temple all the valuable, useful and pretty gifts of their friends to the work of charity.

The fair for the Masonic Asylum fund, they must construct their booths on the same principle as the Potter Building—up into the air. But they forgot the old adage "Nothing succeeds like success," and made no calculation on being flooded daily with offerings from dealers and kind-hearted citizens.

The scene in front of the Temple each day is like that in a freight-receiving depot. Drays and carts deposit safely encased goods of all kinds there, and the Masonic committee never before worked so hard as in stowing away the goods for the ladies, notwithstanding that loads of things are taken away by purchasers each and every evening.

Every inch of available space in the building has been taken. The corridors have booths in them, and fair saleswomen lure the shrewds from the susceptible customers on every hand, even on the chairs.

Right Worthy Brother Washington E. Connor is the officer of the day to-day and a committee, of which Charles T. Griffiths is chairman, has arranged for the interesting "line" of warm-looking house furnishings in the corridors that the visitor who can get no farther owing to the crowd, almost himself in a warm and brilliant dressing-room, while the breeze from the street whistles up his trousers legs.

Inside the hall the beauty and brilliancy of the scene is bewitching, dazzling. A smiling wife, a stony smile, and a smiling lip soliciting a man's patronage beat all the "bargains" ever invented by the enterprising dry goodsman. These little comical things take every man and tender-hearted man come out of the fair after an hour with pockets as empty as though they had met a lunatic.

But their hearts are happy, and they know that they have placed their money where it will do the most good. The fair is a splendid place to buy Christmas presents, for by purchasing of these fair merchants you make them happy, you are exhibiting your own good will, of course, the recipients of the gifts will be made happy.

Last evening there was a vaudeville entertainment in the Grand Masonic Hall, under the direction of H. S. Sanderson and Richard Fitzgerald, and to-morrow evening the Venetian Troubadours, six ladies and two gentlemen, will appear in character and give selections on the mandolin. Also Richard H. Lyman, oleochemist, and Charles H. Gowan, humorist, will add their repertoires to the entertainment.

Charles E. Pygdon's marble statue with which he fell in love, a beautiful, rosy-cheeked, cherry-lipped woman, is seen each evening in an upper room, and Jack Hovey, the Bowery wonder, and his Punch and Judy show, delight the younger half of the crowd.

Excursion trains will run on all the five roads into New York on excursion rates for visitors to the fair beginning Dec. 8.

The ladies club, which has been organized by a committee composed of Mrs. E. W. Richardson, chairman, Mrs. Penhall and the Misses Harbster, Helen Baker, George, Willie and Lillian Brown, has made a grand success of its first excursion to the fair.

The balling contests are going on with exciting interest. Inspector Williams seems to be sure of riding that life-like though innocent-looking goat. His canvas is in the efficient hands of Brother Gruber. The goat will go to the most expert rider in the world, and P. E. D. Hibbs, C. C. Shyne, C. O. Ehlers and R. Well follow Inspector Williams in that order, while the Prince of Wales, Emperor William and Tinselt Fritz are named among the competitors.

At the booth of the ladies of Puritan Lodge was started last night a contest for a $100 East Master's jewel, gold, presented by Ed. Mackay, of the ladies of the same lodge. It is to be given to the member of Puritan Lodge, and P. E. D. Hibbs, A. B. Haynes and J. T. Willis have entered for the race by their admirers.

One of the finest pieces of women's handwork at the fair is a picture, "The Hunter's Farewell," done beautifully in embroidery by Miss Bella E. Rollwagen.

There are no lotteries at the fair, but a $1,500 Chickering piano will be given to one of the people who purchase 21 shares in it, and a $1,500 Harman and a $1,000 scallop neck, the gifts of E. B. Harman and C. C. Shyne respectively, will be given to one of the purchasers of tickets to the Stearns Hall Musical Festival, Friday evening, Dec. 16.

No law will be violated in the allotment of these gifts, though the manner of allotment is a secret with the managers.

A new contest is for a handsome rocker, the gift of Mrs. George H. Wosser, to Crescent Lodge ladies. It will go to the wife of the most popular lodge master, and Mrs. E. B. Harper and Mrs. William Smith lead in the voting. The ladies in charge of this contest are Mrs. E. B. Harper, Mrs. E. B. Harper, Mrs. J. W. Kraft, Mrs. H. M. Hitchcock, Mrs. S. P. Zachario, Mrs. Mark A. Conway, Mrs. E. L. Gibb, Mrs. C. C. Shyne, Mrs. Lynch and Miss Conway.

At Drigo's booth, Mrs. Aaron Morris is chairman, and her aids are Mrs. Bryant, Miss S. E. Morris, Mrs. J. Johnson and Miss Drigo Leslie, for popularity. Dr. Frederick D. Wyman, A. Newberger, A. R. Holt, A. Forster and W. F. Goodhart are in the race, the winner to receive a fine silk Post Master's apron, presented by Worthy Master Aaron Morris.

COWPERTHWAIT.

TRIED TO WED A MA'KID NEGRESS.

A Pastor's Surprising Discovery While Making a Sermon.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—A well-dressed couple crossed the Delaware by the Market street ferry this evening, and, engaging a hack on the Camden side, drove to the residence of the Rev. J. W. Bagby, pastor of the Tabernacle Church on Broadway. By invitation, the hackman accompanied them into the pastor's study to witness the marriage.

The clergyman had noticed that both the couple were alike, but not recognizably dressed, and that they seemed very nervous and anxious for the ceremony to be performed as quickly as possible. The groom was a fine-looking man, and the bride's features were concealed by a heavy veil, when she came in to marry.

Mr. Bagby took the marriage certificate book and began making the usual questions. "The groom gave his name as Joseph S. Elton, thirty-two years of age, Englishman by birth, now living at Newark, Massachusetts County, Pa., and his occupation that of a groom." Turning to the bride-to-be, the pastor began to question her.

"I am a married woman," she said, and her name was Emma Nevada. "I have been married for several years, and my husband is now living in Philadelphia. I have never seen you before, and I do not know who you are."

The pastor was satisfied, and he said to the bride-to-be, "I have never seen you before, and I do not know who you are. I have never seen you before, and I do not know who you are. I have never seen you before, and I do not know who you are."

The pastor was satisfied, and he said to the bride-to-be, "I have never seen you before, and I do not know who you are. I have never seen you before, and I do not know who you are. I have never seen you before, and I do not know who you are."
